Derick Benito Over 50, Male, concerned about ED and Prostrate? 50% of Males over the age of 50 have Prostate problems. They lack the sexual drive, blame their wives, their marriage and their circumstances. They think the solution is to find another bed partner to boost their libido !!! How stupid and short sighted. I am finding that more and more women over the age of 60 are being tested positive for HIV???? Why??? Because their husbands are "sleeping" around. Look at me, I am the "Bull" and they actually feel proud of their infidelity. Come on guys, lets pull ourselves together. Go and have your Prostate checked, a simple blood test and your Medical Practitioner will advise you what to do.

We at Tasly Health Centre firmly believe that prevention is better than cure. Make a booking, have a Health Analysis done and get the treatment. The right treatment and a Healthy Life Style is your road to success and a Happier and fulfilling marriage. Do what you do best ... Love your Family .... Blessings Derick@Tasly
